REPUBLICANS PLANNING TO ATTACK THE MEASURE

Revised Schedules Before Senate Caucus, But No Important Changes Are Made.

Changes in the tariff bill by the Senate finance committee will not meet any serious objection from the House leaders, Majority Leader Underwood declared today. "The bill as presented to the democratic caucus of the Senate," he said "is satisfactory in a large measure None of the amendments is of a nature to cause a serious disagreement. The in caucus today of the tariff bill. Discussion began on the chemical schedule, where the Underwood rates were reduced on certain dyes used in the manufacture of cotton and woolen goods, while other articles, such as creosote oil alazarin and cyanides, were transferred Chairman Simmons of the finance committee said he anticipated few, if any, changes in the chemical schedule by the caucus. Neither did he anticipate much discussion over the earthenware and glassware schedule which follows, though there was a disposition on the part of some members to urge certain increases in the rates on pottery.

Republicans Plan Attack.

Republican Senate leaders today were studying the changes and adjusting their plan of attack. Protests from scores of sources in Califormia were received today by democratic and republican senators and the finance mand the forces. committee against the amendment to the liquor schedule repealing the special limitation revenue tax of 1890 on brandles used in fortifying wines.

The California wine producers declare that to compel them to pay the full internal revenue tax on brandles will make it impossible for them to compete with foreign nations in manufacturing weet wines.
When asked about the protests today

Senator Simmons said he did not know what the caucus would do, but he regarded the action of the committee as just in repealing a law which had operated greatly to the advantage of California wine producers, a favor enjoyed for many years.

Chairman Simmons' Statement.

Chairman Simmons of the finance committee gave out a statement, in which he said: "As a result of the changes proposed in the House bill by the democratic members of the finance committee, the revenues of the government would be increased approximately $5,000,000, hand in hand with a reduction of the taxation following the reduction already made in the House

These increases in revenues will be made up by a tariff on bananas and restoration of the full internal revenue duty of $1.10 per gallon on brandies used in fortifying wines. Concerning certain of the changes the committee statement said: "The chemical schedule remains substantially as it came from the House, with the exception that certain vat colors, which enter largely into the manufacture of cotton, woolen and other textiles which the House put on the dutiable list, have been transferred to the free list. Creosote oil, which is used principally for the preservation of timber, was taken from the dutiable and placed on the free list. A slight increase in duty was made with refer ence to the manufacture of celluloid. Cyanide of potash and cyanide of sodium were also transferred from the dutiable to the free list,

One Change in Sugar.

"With regard to the sugar schedule no change was made from the provision of the Underwood bill, except to strike out 'sugars tinctured and colered' for fear that ultramarine blue used in bleaching sugar might be re-garded as colored matter, and thereby refined sugar become subject to a duty of 2 cents per pound.

Big Addition to Revenue.

"An additional section is added repealing so much of the act approved October 1, 1890, and acts amendatory thereto, so far as they relate to the use free of tax of spirits for the fortification of sweet wines, and providing that hereafter all wine spirits, brandy and alcohol so used shall be subject to the same tax as in other cases. It is estimated that this tax will result in an increase of revenues of approximately seven millions of dollars per annum." "The Senate finance committee followed the House and treated the cotton yarn as the House bill treated cotton cloth." the statement continued, "by adding a duty of 21/2 per cent upon cot-ton cloth when combed, bleached, dyed, mercerized or colored. This is the most important change that the Senate committee made in the House cotton sched-The Senate committee reduced the tariff on cotton laps, roping, silver, or roving from 10 per cent. to 5 per cent, and it substituted the term 'woven figures' for jacquard figured, where used in the bill."
